

ICC Poster Awards for the 3rd ICC Asia-Pacific Grain Conference (APGC)

Sponsored by the Journal of Cereal Science

In partnership with the 3rd ICC Asia-Pacific Grain Conference (APGC), The Journal of Cereal Science, published by Elsevier, has kindly agreed to sponsor the ICC Awards for the two best posters which represent innovative or exceptional work in cereal research.

This sponsorship will be in the form of two awards, each of 500€. Additionally, the two laureates will each be invited to submit a research paper based on their award winning poster to be published in the Journal of Cereal Science. The papers will be specially captioned and will receive complimentary open access for a period of six months. Note - Submissions will be subject to the normal independent peer-review process.

An international jury will evaluate the posters presented during the 3rd ICC Asia Pacific Grain Conference (APGC), 8-10 November 2023.

Purpose

Two scientists (full-time postgraduate students and/or full-time postdoctoral researchers), will receive an award, which aim to promote and encourage scientific work in the discipline of cereal research.

Eligibility

Candidates for the awards must be full-time postgraduate students or full-time postdoctoral researchers (either current or up until the date of the conference, November 2023). Proof of current status may be requested from the student's/postdoc's university supervisor. Posters qualifying for the award must depict original research work performed by the student/postdoc.

Composition of the Jury

The Jury will comprise independent, respected cereal science and technology researchers, as well as representatives of the Journal of Cereal Science.

Criteria for selection of the Laureates

The selection will be based on the originality, the scientific merit and the expected outcomes for the advance in cereal science, as well as the quality of presentation of the poster.

Announcement of the Laureates

The names of the recipients will be announced at the 3rd APGC. The presence of the laureates to receive their award is expected.

Payment of the Awards

An electronic transfer will be arranged by the Journal of Cereal Science.
